This made their "Monopoly" in trade. He also captured the west coast & got access to ocean. Even Mughals did not have full-time Navy.

MARITIME SUPREMACY

This was great as Bijapurii sultan did not have him establish a full-time navy, this was a ~~big~~ huge leap.

Fact

Deccan Sultanate ultimately broke away to form 5 different states, i.e. Golconda, Bijapur, Ahmednagar, Bidar & Berar.

Bijapuri Sultan, sent a veteran-general Afzal Khan to kill Shivaji. But, managed to meeting Afzal at Pratapgadh fort & killed him using Wagh-nag (Tiger's claw).

3 attacks

A Mughal nobleman, Shasta Khan, invaded some Maratha territories for 3 yrs. But, the Shivaji retaliated & got his land back. Khan lost a few fingers during this

A Mughal general, Jai Singh, attacked Marathas under Mughal orders & defeated them & convinced them to meet in Mughal court, join Mughal service & give up a large part of his Kingdom & get house-arrested. Shivaji escaped anyway along with his son

After 3rd Panipat Battle

Nana Phadnavis was Marathas had ~~the~~ northern territories (Lahore, Attok & Delhi) till 3rd Anglo-Maratha battle (b/w Britishers)

Shivaji had a very centralised system

He introduced "ashtapradhan system"

Maratha Administration

Sometimes military discipline was compromised

Eg of Peshwas:

Narasah

& Bajirao I

(helped in expansion)

& Mahadji

Shinde (helped in empire's recovery after

3rd Panipat

Battle)

Marathas types of Baagis

During Tarabai's expansion the system became decentralised & Peshwa (Prime Minister) had a lot of influence, even over the ruler.

He removed Jagir system & paid every official with salary from treasury

Marathas had 2 types of soldiers
Baqjis & Shiledars

Military Administration

He paid the widows of soldiers as pensions & offered jobs to their sons

¶ Mahadji had a large European style army as he was impressed by their discipline & formation. Marathas used sword as their main weapon but also firearms & gunpowder Marathas mainly traded with Mecha (Yemen), Muscat (Oman) & Malacca (Malaysia). They also made roads & bridge.

Marathas judicial system was like present-day India's as death punishment was very rare & moderated. Panchayat & official acted as judges.

Rajya-Vyakhara
Rasha was the plan of Shivaji which gave sanskrit words instead of Persian words

Shivaji wanted
Swaraj (own rule)
He showed this by writing this on his seals.

He was a devout Hindu, who upheld his religion
but respected all.

SHIVAJI'S VISION & THANJAVUR

Thanjavur was captured by Eroji (half-brother of Shivaji)
in late 17th CE Marathas made & helped with many things in the South.

Serfoji II was the most important ruler there.

He knew many Indian & European languages. He made a Marathi play, Devenadra Kuravanji. He grew & shaped Carnatic music & early Bharat natyam.

He made Dhanwanthri Mahal & engraved Bhonsle family's entire history on the wall of Brihadeshwara temple.

Task - 1 : SHORT NOTES

1) Marathas

➤ The Maratha empire played an important role in Indian history.

Under Shivaji Maharaj, the Marathas built a strong kingdom in Deccan, which survived till the start of British Conquest. Shivaji promoted language, tolerance, religion, justice & peace.

(Shivaji Maharaj)

He consolidated Marathas & fought Mughals. They are known for their bravery, navy & guerilla warfare. After Shivaji, emergence of a decentralized administration & Peshwa dominance, led to expansion of the Empire. They also resisted Britishers for 2 battle. Their rule came to end in 1818.

Their navy & judicial system were amazing. Their rule of ~2 Centuries made Deccan stable, safe & thriving.
